UNIVERSITY MASQUERS PRESENT PUBLIC PROGRAM THIS EVENING

William Angus to Read "Journey's End"; Conceded by Critics
To Be Finest of War Plays.

"Journey's End," which William Angus will read at the public program offered by the Masquers in the Little Theater tonight, is led by the majority of critics to be the finest war play ever read and one of the best plays of our generation.

Commenting on its opening in New York the Theater Arts Monthly says: "It is a play of the incidents and the emotions which bring the story to life in a way that is almost too good. The play is made up of brief scenes, each of which flows naturally, quietly into the next, but each of which is distinct. Several of these scenes are several exciting, others deeply moving, unforgettable. A strange feeling is that of the misadventure and Raleigh spend to before going out on the raid, courageous, deeply sympathetic, as down to its essentials the soul of the thing about to be crushed the wheels of a huge war.

"I cannot help feeling, all the way through, that this is exactly the way it happened among men who hated war, who went through it, after four years, with gallant weariness and stoical disillusion. There is no sentiment anywhere to show what other things of the war. You see, but you cannot hear him say anything so cruel, or ought to be, or must never happen again. It is a better way to speak of war than editorializing or shouting about it. Let the characters do what they would have done, speak for themselves and the moral is unescapable. A better play than "What Price Peace" because it represents the war as the majority of the men knew it who in it.

Formal Gatherings For Science Talks

A group of students and faculty members have been gathering in the new room in Craig hall at 11 o'clock Tuesday mornings and having scientific discussions and speakers interested in science.

Today at 11 the group met again and Dr. D. C. Skeels of the Forestry school talked on "The Source of Energy of the Stars." The group is not organized but students interested in science and scientific research have attended regularly. Last Tuesday Arnold Edum of the Biology department gave a talk on "The Precipitation of Iodine." Part of this talk was taken from a study weendum made during research work.

ROTC Parades Armistice Day

Grizzly Band Leads Cadets
In March Down Higgins.

Cadets took to the long march yesterday afternoon, and joined with the rest of Missoula in celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the signing of the Armistice. With the band, in its new uniforms, leading the way, the student soldiers marched from the parade grounds on the campus to University avenue, down University to Gerald avenue, down Gerald to Fourth, and down Fourth to Higgins.

At Higgins avenue the cadets met the battalion from Fort Missoula. The Fort battalion marched ahead, with the Grizzly battalion next in line, followed by Veterans of the World War and other marching groups. A feature of the parade was the first public appearance in their new uniforms of the R. O. T. C. upperclassmen. The uniforms arrived just in time for the Armistice Day parade; previously the student officers had been drilling in civilian clothes.

Grid-Graph Mixer

Large Attendance at Scoreboard Dance
In Women's Gym.

Approximately 350 students turned out to the Grid-Graph mixer which was held in the Women's gymnasium Saturday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock. This was an innovation on the Montana campus.

The returns of the Montana-California football game played in Berkeley were received play by play over Western Union wires direct to the Women's gym. The results were announced between the short dances by Yell King, Bob Hendon and Don Wellman.

As the progress of the game was announced the plays were illustrated on the Grid Graph board by Lloyd Callison. Between each announcement the students danced to the music furnished by Joe's Busch's five-piece orchestra.

Hendon said yesterday that it was very probable that the second Grid Graph mixer would be held on November 28 when Montana plays U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

Disguise Enables Men To Get Prom Low-Down

Although the women were unaware of it there was a wily male masquerader at the Co-Ed Prom! It was easy for him to pass the Tanans' inspection and to leap their ramparts before entering the Prom. That man stayed there from start to finish! Each stunt, skit, everything which happened at either the Little Theatre or the Men's gymnasium is now in the very capable fist of the Hi-Jinx committee. Not until December 7 will the co-eds be able to find what is being done with this coup d'etat.

Last night the cast was completed. The Hi-Jinx committee chose the directors of each scene in each act and finished picking the members of the cast.

The first rehearsal will be held today. At a general meeting the directors of the acts will give each member of the cast his instructions. From today until December 7 long, hard practices will be held and the chorus will be drilled intensively.

The manuscript says that our esthetic males will have many chances to have their hidden genius discovered in the show's many features which contain singing, dialogue and lots of dancing.

Ed Levasseur, who has been very active in the direction of several Elks' shows, will aid the outside talent which has been engaged in the training of the mammoth men's choruses. Mary M. Laux, professor of physical education, is also going to aid in training our males.

Russell Smith, manager of this year's razz show, will have as assistants: Don Stocking, Virginia Roter and Miriam Barnhill. One of the women will succeed to the position of manager next year. They will be aided by the Hi-Jinx committee com-

Song and Dance Skits Feature Annual Razz Directed at Women

Casting for Hi-Jinx, annual University razz production, is almost completed and will be announced within a few days. Rehearsals on dance numbers, skits and snappy songs are expected to get under way this evening.

Men students have scoured not only the campus but Missoula and suburbs for material for the script, according to those in charge, and few if any co-eds will emerge from the Wilma on the night of December 7 with a spotless reputation.

Committees appointed by Silent Sentinel and Mortar Board will review the show before the presentation in accordance with a provision concerning the reestablishment of the show.

Quadrans To Select Senior Women's Garb

Non-Fraternity Women Urged to Attend Meetings.

Quadrans, women's senior organization, will meet at the Delta Delta house at 5 o'clock Thursday, November 14. Tri Delta and Alpha Xi Delta will entertain.

At this meeting the committee on a distinctive garb for senior women will report and a good attendance is requested to discuss the question. Non-fraternity women are particularly urged to attend by Vivian Lewis, president, who said, "Quadrans is not an organization of fraternity women and non-fraternity women should take as much interest and part in senior activities as Greeks."

French Club Elects Officers for Year

George Grover was elected president of the French club at its meeting Thursday evening in the basement of the law building. Other officers elected were Lee Thibodeau, vice president; Eveline Blumenthal, secretary; Geraldine Everly, treasurer. French card games were played and refreshments were served.

The Junior French club is an organization of students who are interested in French and who have ranked high in their French classes, according to Miss Ammer and Miss Yeatts, faculty supervisors of the club. More members will be invited later in the year from the French classes.

TANANS DINE AT FLORENCE TONIGHT

Representatives of Three Classes Will Speak.

Tanans, sophomore women's honorary organization, and ex-Tanans will hold their annual banquet at the Florence hotel this evening at 7 o'clock. Hazel Borders, president of Tanans, will be toastmistress.

Toasts on the evening's program are based on the Tanan emblem. Blanche Coppo, '30, will speak on "What 'T' Means to Us." Marjory Stewart, '31, will talk of Mount Sentinel and its significance on the emblem, and Mary Ruth Larson, '32, will give a toast on the background in general. Mrs. Anderson, who when she was a student on the Montana campus gave the name Tanan to the group, will speak on "The Traditions of Montana." Marian Cline will play a piano solo.

Each year it is a custom for the Tanans to hold an informal banquet. Tanan is an organization corresponding to Bear Paw, sophomore men's honorary, formed to help enforce the traditions on the Montana campus, meet trains, etc. It was organized in 1924 by the Women's Self Government association, and each year at the banquet reminiscences of traditions and former experiences are recalled. The banquet is the final event which makes the sophomore girls who are tapped Tanan in the fall fully realize their responsibility to uphold the traditions of the organization.

Those in charge of making arrangements for this year's banquet are Miriam Barnhill, Mary Ruth Larson, Beth Manis and Marian Miller.

NOTICE.

The first meeting of Colloquium of the year will be held at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon in the lecture room of the Natural Science building. Prof. E. E. Bennett will discuss "Origins of the World War," by Sidney Bradshaw Fay. Tea will be served in the Home Economics room during the half hour preceding the meeting. Students are invited.

ALPHA PHI'S "PUPPET SHOW" WINNING ACT AT CO-ED PROM

Keen Competition Evincing; Dorothy Tupper, Harriet Louthier, Thelma Williams Win Costume Prizes.

Alpha Phi, presenting "The Puppet Show," won the $10 prize which was offered by A. W. S. for the best 3-minute stunt put on in the Little Theater as a part of the Co-ed Prom last Saturday evening.

"The Puppet Show" presented four dancing dolls, internationally known, whose antics were very interesting. Other groups whose acts placed among the first five were Kappa Delta, Zeta Chi, North Hall, and Alpha Chi Omega. Kappa Delta presented "Montana's Medicine Myth" which advocated pink pills and green gargle for all ills. "Midnight Night's Dream," which was given by Zeta Chi, showed the nightmares of a co-ed before piquant exams. "Did you ever have a date jerked?" the skit put on by the North hall group, was all that its name signifies, the night a co-ed had a date jerked. Alpha Chi Omega's skit was entitled "Futuristic Splashes" and was a tumbling pose in black and yellow.

Competition was marked among the stunts this year, and the judges asked more time to decide those who should place, after the winner was decided. Judges of the stunts were Mrs. C. H. Clapp, Prof. C. H. Riedell, and Miss Lucia Mirrielees.

Costume Prizes.

After the winner of the stunt prize was announced everyone went to the men's gym to dance to music furnished by Mope Dickinson's orchestra. About 11 o'clock the grand march was held, after which the winners of the costume prizes were announced. The winner of the prize for the most beautiful costume was Dorothy Tupper, who was dressed in a Russian peasant costume. Harriet Louthier, realistically dressed as the American man who plays golf, won the prize for the funniest costume, and Thelma Williams, representing a Hula girl, won the prize for the most effective costume.

Initial Colloquium of Year Is Scheduled For Tomorrow Afternoon

"Origins of the World War," by Sidney Bradshaw Fay of Smith college, will be discussed by Prof. E. E. Bennett of the history department, at the first colloquium of the year which will be held in the lecture room of the Natural Science building tomorrow at 4:30 o'clock.

The book, which traces the diplomatic situation from 1871 through 1914 has been hailed as a most thorough and unbiased statement of the causes of the World War.

Colloquium, according to present plans, will meet every other week during the quarter. W. R. Ames, A. S. Merrill and Rufus Coleman, all members of the faculty, will be in charge.

The discussions are open to the public and students are encouraged to attend.

Members of the Music club will hold their first meeting of the year in DeLoss Smith's studio Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock. Following a short business meeting at which officers will be elected, a study will be made of the opera Martha which is to be presented here November 18.

A synopsis of the plot will be read and selections will be played on the phonograph and explained. This meeting is for majors and minors in the School of Music and also for anyone interested in the program. The club will meet twice a month during the year.

Spaniards to Meet

A program has been arranged. Mrs. Paul Bischoff will speak on the history of California missions. Nat Allen will play piano selections. A feature of the evening will be a gambling by the Spanish game called Fiesta. High and low prizes will be given for both men and women. The prizes will be Mexican trinkets.

According to Miss Eminger, Spanish instructor, group singing of Spanish songs has been taken up spontaneously by the club. Miss Sughrue will be in charge of refreshments.

MEETING POSTPONED.

The meeting of the University Christian Union, which was scheduled for next Saturday, has been postponed until Saturday, November 23. The absence of Rev. Bunch, who will be in Portland next week, was given as the cause for the postponement.

SNAKE DANCE, RALLY AND BONFIRE TO PRECEDE BAND DANCE FRIDAY

Demonstration Before W. S. C. Game Will Terminate With Annual Band Dance in Men's Gym.

A snake dance first, and then the annual band dance, will be the schedule next Friday night.

Plans for the snake dance are not as yet definitely shaped, according to Bob Hendon, yell king, but the parade will probably form in front of Main hall at 7:30 p. m. Led by the Grizzly band, the rooters will form into a long line and march down town. After a pep session in the business district, they will return to the University where a bonfire will await them. The fire will be built by freshmen, under the supervision of Bear Paws. Speeches, songs and talks about the W. S. C. game Saturday will follow.

The rally will be over early enough to give the students plenty of time to prepare for the band dance afterwards. The dance will be held in the Men's gymnasium.

All members of the band are selling tickets, which are 50 cents per couple, and the volume of sales is reported to be increasing rapidly. The proceeds will be used to pay for the caps and capes which were bought before the Butte game to complete the band uniforms.

On Thursday, the night before the mixer, the band will give a short concert at the Wilma theater between the regular shows. The high spot of the performance will be the introduction of Professor DeLoss Smith's Montana song, "Warriors." Thursday night the song will be presented under special arrangement by Roy Freeburg, band director. Two other numbers, the "Orphans Overture" and "Stars and Stripes Forever" will also be given.

Student directories will be out the latter part of the week, according to information from the registrar's office, and will be sold downtown, in fraternity and sorority houses, residence halls, at the students' store, and at the telephone booth in Main hall. The price for students will be 25 cents and for merchants downtown 35 cents.

Information in the directory includes a list of faculty members, their addresses, phone numbers and departments; a list of all students registered in the University with Missoula addresses, phone number, home addresses, class and major course of each.

The directory this year will be the tenth put out by the registrar's office. In 1920 the first issue was published in February with full sized 80 pages, over one-half of which was devoted to advertising which helped pay the expenses of publishing the book. It included a short list of students, fraternity and sorority houses. With the view in mind of publishing a small book with information about students and faculty members for the use of any student or outsider as a reference book, the next issue in 1921 was cut to its present size with no advertising. The expenses of publication were met by sale of the books. In the succeeding years additional material has been added and the price raised to cover printing costs. Now a complete list of organization, both professional and social, on the campus and an authentic list of the officers is included with information about students.

Crawford Beckett and Robert Luke are in charge of the sale of directories downtown to the merchants. Those at the residence halls in charge of the Warne; North, Ruth Gelhaus; and sale of directories are: Corbin, Martha South, Clarence Watson. One member of each fraternity and sorority will sell the directories in each house.

Professor's Son Accidentally Shot

Fay Clark, Jr., Killed While Cleaning
Automatic Pistol.

Fay D. Clark, Jr., fifteen-year-old son of Prof. Fay Clark of the Forestry school, was accidentally shot and killed in Hollywood, Cal., last Saturday. According to reports "Buddy" was cleaning a Colt automatic pistol when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Clark and Buddy, with his sister, Lorena, have been in California for the past three years, where Lorena has been taking special training in dancing and dramatics. Mrs. Clark was in San Bernardino at the time of the accident.

Prof. Clark left yesterday and will arrive in Los Angeles Wednesday. The funeral of the boy will probably be held Thursday at the Clark family home at 831 Baseline St., San Bernardino. Prof. Clark will be back to resume his duties at the University the early part of next week.

Alumni Association Pamphlets Mailed

"Montana Expects Every Alumnus to Do His Duty"—Dietrich.

The Alumni Association of the University sent out its monthly bulletin to the alumni and former students of Montana last Friday.

The bulletin contains messages from President C. H. Clapp of the University and from Maurice Dietrich, president of the Alumni Association. It also carries the announcement that the quarterly magazine, "Montana Alumnus," will soon be off the press. An explanation of the association makes up the last page.

In his message Dietrich says, "Montana expects every alumnus to do his duty and looks to him to align himself with every activity that will make our association a more representative group of citizens."

MONTHLY LUNCHEON.

The Baptist Young People's Union held its monthly covered dish luncheon at the home of Rev. Jesse Bunch last night. Besides the regular program, an outline of activities for the coming month was arranged.

Get On the Band-Wagon.

NOT long ago, the University band held tag days. The Tanans, Bear Paws, and band members canvassed the campus, and students either bought tags or stayed in that day. Later, this system was extended to cover admission to a concert which the band held annually.

Now, the only financial support that the band asks of the student body is in the students' own language, the annual band dance. Proceeds will be used to defray the expense of the new uniforms. The mixer is immediately after the football rally.

Students Are Publishers.

THE publication of college student newspapers has come to be business the extent of which few people realize. There are more than four hundred college papers published at least once a week, with an average of some twenty-five students working on each paper. There are thirty-two college dailies in the country, about half of which use the service of some nationally-known newsgathering organization.

About thirty-five college papers are published either twice or three times a week. More than three hundred colleges have weekly newspapers, and nearly a hundred more small colleges have papers coming out less often than once a week but more often than monthly. Academic credit for work on college papers is the exception rather than the rule. Twenty-four out of twenty-five dailies reported financial compensation for the editor and business manager, while seven divided the profits among the members of the entire staff. As for the money the staff members are paid, in about forty per cent of the cases the amounts are based on the percentage of profits.—Nebraska Alumnus.

What You Say?

In a safety talk the other day Major O. L. Bodenhaner, national commander of the American Legion, said in part, "In war we fought for a definite objective...."

CURRENT COMMENT

EXEUNT POPULI.

Shortly after Time extends itself about a student cabbage shower within the sacred precincts of Harvard comes more news of collegiate depravity in the announcement that all of the eighteen reported injuries due to rushing for the gate after the Vanderbilt game occurred in the student section.

A football game is necessarily the occasion of much informality. After the first whistle even sedate students of Sanskrit and bespectacled Phi Betes forget the restraint usually governing them and indulge in actions and words unfit for the quieter shades of the study. Their saner moments know no such lightness of heart as characterizes the few brief hours of one or another of the so-called grid classics.

Recalling the methods used by the police in breaking up student snake dances, one condones if one does not excuse, the natural ebullitions of youthful enthusiasm incident to a football game and the exit from the stadium. Hurrying out to tell the rest of the crowd just where "the radio gave it all wrong" results in a deal of pushing and shoving that is not of the gentlest sort.

Colleges are the recipients of enough unfavorable publicity as things are without increasing the amount by preventable, however condonable, mishaps of this kind. A little restraint would remedy the condition completely, cause no hardship or suffering or lessening of enjoyment, and contribute to the safety and pleasure of allegedly innocent bystanders. A word to the wise is sufficient.—Minnesota Daily.

THE QUINTESSENCE OF INSULT.

Because a giddy young Harvard initiate of the Hastings Pudding Club washed his feet on the front steps of the University's chaste Fog Museum, threw a hapless Chinaman down those same steps, and then roared out ribaldries at a passing group of young Jewish gentlemen, The Harvard Crimson, which is Harvard's defender of Truth, Justice, and other phantasmagoria, burst forth into a lengthy denunciation of the youths of Harvard who like to be smartly ridiculous.

Speaking of the initiation ceremonies of the Hastings Pudding Club, The Crimson had this to say: "There is obviously heavy drinking in connection with the Pudding running. . . . A passerby on Quincy Street was embarrassed by public aspersion of his virility. . . ."

Now it is at once evident that it would be a heinous crime were some errant Minnesotan to wash his feet on the steps of the Library. And it would be a most unkind cut should some unfortunate be tossed down the Library's stately steps. That much is palpable.

But, insofar as the magnitude of the crimes perpetrated by the villainous youths of Harvard's Hasty Pudding Club is considered, the catfish who cast aspersions on the luckless gentleman of Quincy Street must stand forth as the blackest scoundrel of them all. The victim of this foul slander would have been entirely within the dictates of his honor had he challenged his traducer to a duel, and shot him through the heart. The Harvard Crimson errs only in that it fails to search out the real villain of the Hasty Pudding Club outrages.—Minnesota Daily.

Co-ed From has come and went; and a jolly lot of so-and-so it turned out to be. What with the mob spirit after it was over, and some really touching antagonism while it was going on, we hope everyone is satisfied.

The Militant Male, personified by two hundred odd youth, got left. They reached the gym; overpowered the police, and got upstairs in time to help carry the bass drum down the stairs.

Then to show that they were really on desperate bent, they actually cut straight across the grass of the oval. That was just too bad-y-bad of you, chappies.

Ninety per cent of mob spirit is noise. We overheard several leaders admonish their sheep to "talk it up big." The closer they got to the halls, you may be sure, the louder the talk. Speaking of whistling past a graveyard. One must yell past the watchman.

The climax came when they all sang (rather poorly) a song which contained a naughty word. My-my.

Heroics At Corbin: They couldn't whistle past Mrs. Turner. She stemmed the tide, and then locked the door on them.

"You cannot make a man by standing a sheep on its hind legs. But by standing a flock of sheep in that position you can make a crowd of men," says Max Beerbohm, so aptly.

The Armistice Day parade was a great success. Two bands and two drum corps. The dogs with little boys attached were the cutest things, and my dear, you should have seen the ROTC.

Speaking of murder; did you ever hear a girl say "All right-y?"

On the sidewalk in front of the SAE house, and all fall mind you, there has been a puddle of water. We wish something would be done about this.

And speaking of SAE'S; the lady who lives next door to them has a large red rooster for a pet. We may expect the boys to make their 8 o'clocks on time.

Perhaps they will have chicken for Thanksgiving.

What is more disconcerting than to wait half an hour for a woman and then discover that she waited so long in the hope that you would go?

WHAT YOUNGER COLLEGE MEN ARE DOING WITH WESTINGHOUSE

This 5,000 h. p. motor in the Columbia Steel Company's plant, with its frame of arc-welded steel, is physically the largest synchronous motor ever built.

Ninety days to go— teamwork wins

While you Seniors were shuffling worries about machine stresses and saturation curves with those of football last fall, a group of your predecessors, not so many years ahead of you, were playing the game with grim realities.

The Columbia Steel Company of Pittsburg, California, completed plans on September 12th to build a new tinplate plant. On the 13th they gave an order to Westinghouse for two 5,000 horsepower synchronous motors to drive the rolls, to be physically the largest synchronous motors ever built. Delivery of the first was wanted in ninety days.

Ninety days in which to design, manufacture, assemble, test and ship any large unit, let alone a new achievement in size and type of construction, affords no time for idle speculation. Westinghouse men went at the job as only an experienced and thoroughly equipped organization could do. And on the scheduled date, four flat cars and a box car rolled out of the Westinghouse plant, carrying the completed and tested motor.

It was an industrial victory, as satisfying as any athletic gain. Teamwork and individual skill had won. Westinghouse had once more made good and upheld the reputation that earns the big electrical jobs for Westinghouse men.

MASQUERS WILL PRESENT THREE ACT FARCE NOVEMBER 21, 22, 23

"Dying For Money" Offers Best of Comedy; Leading Role Calls For Great Versatility.

"Dying for Money," a three-act farce which will be presented by the Masquers in the Little Theater November 21, 22 and 23, offers some of the best comedy the stage affords.

During the course of the play, Mrs. Allington, played by Betty Torrence, conceives a number of brilliant ideas for getting rid of her husband. First she plans an explosion as the best means of killing him. Later when her husband turns up as another person and it becomes necessary for him to disappear again she contrives to drown him. Then he reappears as a third person and it is then imperative for him to return as her husband. Consequently, Albert Erickson, who plays Mr. Allington, is required to present a great deal of versatility in his acting. First he appears as Aubrey Allington, a care-free, irresponsible husband. Next he assumes the role of a long-lost heir from Mexico supposed to be dead. Later he plays the part of an English clergyman with eccentric speech and mannerisms. Finally he reassumes his original role though in a dazed state of amnesia.

Further comedy is provided by Helen Maddock in the part of a deaf old maid who is very sharp and caustic in her remarks. To Helen D'Orazi falls the task of portraying the gushy, sentimental young wife whose husband turns up three times in three different manners.

William Brown and Rita Walker play the parts of butler and maid who become very much involved in the farcical plot in an attempt to secure the inheritance so they can be married. The role of the London stage hand who is brazenly masquerading as the long lost heir from Mexico is played by Sterling Stapp. He finds himself confronted with confusing circumstances that make his position precarious.

John McKay plays the small but colorful part of a stupid country yokel. Jack Toole has the role of the real article in long lost heirs from Mexico. Carlos Van Wold interprets the part of a London lawyer, the only normal person in the play.

William Angus, director of the Little Theater, reports that the cast is doing excellent work and the play will be in top shape by the opening night.

Margaret Murphy of Butte was the week-end guest of her sister, Mary Alice Murphy, at North hall.

GOLDEN BEARS DOWN GRIZZLIES BY 53-18 COUNT

Montana Rally in Third Quarter Brings in Two Scores; Long Runs Feature of Game.

Three of the longest runs on the coast this year were scored Saturday as California won from the Grizzlies, 53-18. Two Montana men, Jimmy Morrow and Waldo Ekegren, and a California sub, Seeley, furnished the thrills for the crowd. The rest of the game was a case of Montana fighting an uphill battle against the California reserves. As Montana tired, Coach Nils Price of California sent in numerous fresh players, many of them first string men, and the game changed from a hard fought struggle to a romp of the Golden Bear. The first half ended 21-0 for the southerners, who had seen the Grizzlies start with lots of fight, earning two first downs on plunges and a pass. California recovered and scored its first touchdown in the first quarter. Passes counted much in the next two scores for the Berkeley boys.

The second half started out with a rush by California, but the dynamite exploded. Waldo Ekegren, standing on his own 25 yards line, reached up in the air to snag a California pass and shot down the field for the first Grizzly marker. Muhlick missed the try for goal and it was California 21, Montana 6.

After the kickoff there was an exchange of punts and Montana had the ball on the Bear's 45-yard line. A reverse play brought 16 yards, then Waldo Ekegren carried the ball three times for a total of 25 yards. The ball was on California's three-yard line when Ekegren took it through center for six more points. Score, California 21, Montana 12.

California scored next, two plays netting 54 yards, to end the point making for the third quarter, with California 13 counts to the good.

The fourth quarter was a track meet for California, with the exception of Morrow's long jaunt. On the first play after the teams had swapped ends Seeley broke through for 69 yards to the goal line. The California first string took the field. The ball changed hands twice, then Morrow called an off-tackle play, carrying the ball himself. He shot through the hole and went 70 yards with the Bears stringing out behind him. Again Montana failed to gain the extra point, leaving their score at 18. Following the kick-off California got a break when they took the ball on Montana's 24-yard line on an intercepted pass. Gill, sophomore first string back, plunged through guard and on across the goal in one play. After that California scored twice more, once on a 65-yard march, and again from Montana's 9-yard line when they recovered a fumble. Three plays put the ball across. Final, 53-18.

Three men were outstanding among the Bear reserves. Seeley and Rice, halfbacks, and Garrity, fullback, furnished most of the fireworks. Montana's main exhibitions were Morrow and W. Ekegren in the backfield and Walker in the line. The whole team fought as it did early in the season, but could not cope with the flock of substitutes Price had on hand to enter the game.

Cubs Swamp Teachers By 25-0 Victory

Normal Unable to Halt Line Plunges.

Dillon, Nov. 11.—Montana State Normal eleven was swamped by the freshmen of the State University this afternoon, 25-0. The Cubs unleashed an attack which bewildered the Teachers and left them helpless in spite of their valiant attempts to hold. The freshmen from Missoula assailed the Teachers with an offense which the Bulldogs could not stop. Though they used only straight football tactics, the visitors experienced little difficulty in smashing through the Normal line for gain after gain. Normal fans obtained only one thrill from the contest as the Bulldogs held once when the Cubs had only one foot to go on their second down. During the remainder of the battle the game was almost entirely in Normal territory.

Missoula's touchdowns were made by Andrews, Fox, Madden and Wallender, with Fox scoring the extra point on Madden's touchdown.

Lineup:	University 25	Normal 0

Grizzly Cubs Lose to Miners

Miners Grab Bad Kick To Win, 6-0.

Failure to capitalize on the breaks cost the Grizzly Cubs their game with the Montana School of Mines Saturday. A bad punt gave the Miners one chance and they took advantage of it to win, 6-0. The summary of the game shows a decided superiority by the Cubs in practically every department of the game, but lack of a punch when inside the foe's five-yard line kept them from winning. Three different times Grizzly yearlings threatened, but their growl was worse than their bite.

A revamped lineup gave the Cubs more fire, but it only burned occasionally.

Swimming classes are being held for high school students at the U. of Washington this year.

COUGAR INVASION BIG ATTRACTION

Lost Only to Golden Bear During Season.

When Washington State College and Montana take the field here Saturday in the biggest home game of the season the Grizzlies will be facing what is recognized as the strongest team in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference.

The Cougars have been beaten only once this season, and that loss came at the hands of the league-leading California Bears, 14-0. After that game the Washington Staters stepped out to beat Washington, Oregon Aggies and Idaho, scoring 70 points to their conference opponents' 34.

Elmer Schwartz, the big boy who was converted from a guard to a fullback at the start of the season, leads the conference in points scored, accumulating 72 points on a dozen touchdowns made against both conference and non-conference schools. Schwartz pushed the ball across the line four times against Idaho Saturday.

Archie Buckley, the Cougar quarter back, is a pygmy among giants, weighing only 150 pounds in a backfield which averages over 185, he makes up in brains and speed what he lacks in size. Buckley is a star in three sports and is expected to have earned nine letters by the end of this year.

Porter Laihart, a halfback, is a triple-threat performer and is the boy who put the Cougars ahead last year in their contest with the Grizzlies. He weighs 175 pounds.

Tuffy Ellingsen, another 175 pounder, holds down the other halfback berth, and is another triple-threat man. He is only a sophomore but fits well into Coach Babe Hollinberry's powerful backfield.

Hollinberry is young for a coach, but is a hard fighting, driving sort of a person, according to the information opposing players and coaches give out. He is pointing for the Northern division honors and is all set to take Montana.
